The CBC MED Programme as “a source of inspiration”

“Cross-border cooperation can really contribute to the development of the 9 Egyptian governorates involved in the Programme, especially for youth and women’s empowerment.”

H.E. Dr. Sahar Nasr, Minister of Investment and International Cooperation of Egypt

“The Programme is an important tool to stimulate projects that can provide common solutions to the Mediterranean region’s needs. Cross-border cooperation is a source of inspiration for relations in the Mediterranean area.”

H.E. Johannes Hahn, Commissioner for European Neighbourhood Policy and Enlargement Negotiations

Seminar for schools on the Mediterranean Diet during EXPO Milano 2015

The institutional networks

New actors and new strategic areas for cooperation

Not just numbers

A unique view on the human side of cooperation

“The participation to the MedGeneration business tour in Palestine allowed me to become a member of a network of like-minded people who might become referral or strategic partners, and who might provide business consultation or become advisors and want to support each other in growing their businesses.” Lama Mansour, Palestinian national and co-founder of BOLD Gadgets, a hardware start-up located in Estonia

“Thanks to the LACTIMED project, I have improved the quality of the feta I produce, selling it at a higher price on the market. I have also established a joint venture with an Egyptian company to expand my business abroad.” Dimitris Kissas, feta producer from the region Thessaly in Greece
